FORTY-THIRD VOLUME.

1897.

INTRODUCTORY.

The publishers take pleasure in presenting to their patrons the forty-third annual volume of THE INDIANAPOLIS CITY DIRECTORY. They offer it with the assurance that it will equal former editions in completeness and accuracy.

The territory embraced this year is the same as in the past, including, in addition to the city proper, West Indianapolis, Irvington, Brightwood, Haughville, Mount Jackson, Mapleton, Woodside, Clifton-on-the-River, Marion Park and Emmerichsville.

POPULATION.

This volume contains 65,320 names. By using a multiple of  $2\frac{3}{4}$ , a population of 179,630 is shown for the territory above mentioned. This multiple is used to include males under twenty years of age and females following no employment or living at home with their parents, many of whom have been included in former editions but excluded from this. In fixing the population of the city and suburbs at 179,630 it is believed that a just and fair estimate is given, and one which is borne out by the poll at the recent election, which gave the city over 41,000 voters. This would indicate a population of over 165,000 for that portion of the territory included within the city limits and about 15,000 for the above-named suburbs.

NEW STREET GUIDE.

The street guide given in the present work is entirely new and includes all the alterations in the names of streets contained in the ordinances recently passed by the city council. In this guide we have shown under the name of the old street its new name, and in the case of two or more streets of the same name, the ward in which each is contained. And under the new name has been included the names of the old street or streets which comprise that street under the new ordinance.

RENUMBERING OF HOUSES.

The city council has now under consideration the renumbering of houses on the decimal system, 100 to the block of the usual length, a system which is in vogue in nearly all large cities, and one that for simplicity and convenience can not be excelled. The number would indicate the exact number of blocks distant from the base or dividing line of the city.

CITY MAP.

In the revised edition of the city map, also presented by the publishers with this volume, all street changes have been made to accord with the city ordinance and our street guide above mentioned. At the foot of the map is also contained a street guide locating on the map by letter and figure the names of all streets. In this guide, also, the same rule has been followed in regard to the names of the old and new streets that we followed in our street guide referred to above.

Changes found in a city directory from year to year surely indicate the life and activity of its inhabitants, and the statistics which our columns from time to time present are bases on which to estimate the city's growth and prosperity. As the city increases in population demands for more commodious offices centrally located increase, and as real estate in the heart of the city becomes more valuable old buildings are torn down to make place for new ones more modern in style and more commodious in arrangement. Each of these buildings has its numerous tenants and the proportion who move yearly can only be appreciated by comparing one of our editions with its previous one. These changes make the Directory an absolute necessity in every store and business man's office.

In conclusion the publishers desire to thank their patrons for continued support, and the public generally for courtesy extended to their agents in collecting the required data. Neither effort nor expense have been spared to make the work accurate and reliable.

DIRECTORY

BORROWERS

---

WE RECEIVE many complaints from our patrons to the effect that they are bothered so much by BORROWERS. These parties are not the private citizen nor the stranger in the city, who steps in, looks at the Directory and goes out, but merchants, business and professional men, who need a Directory every day of the year, yet who are too close-fisted to buy one.

These same individuals are the ones that borrow your Directory "just for a minute," which, in the majority of cases, means a day or perhaps a week, unless you remember that they have it and send for it.

These same borrowers will tell the Directory canvasser that he has "no use for a Directory," that he "knows everybody," and, vice versa, "everybody knows him."

BUTLER COLLEGE

DEPARTMENT OF ARTS

UNIVERSITY OF INDIANAPOLIS

Irvington, the site of the College, is an attractive suburb of Indianapolis, four miles east of the center of the city, and connected with it by electric street cars, making quick trips every fifteen minutes. The population of the village consists mainly of those who have been drawn thither by its educational inducements. This gives it a special character of cultivation and good order, while, as a home for students, it is singularly free from the temptations and dangers often surrounding college life.

The College, in its literary and scientific departments, maintains a full corps of instructors, and offers every facility for thorough college work. Instruction in elocution, and regular and systematic training in physical exercises are furnished without extra charge. An excellent preparatory school fits students for college classes. Residence for young ladies is offered in a carefully conducted boarding hall on the college campus, where young ladies only are received. All the buildings are supplied with steam heat and electric lights. Tuition and living expenses low. For catalogue and information, address
